Card Connect New York Hires First PR Writer

Merchant Processing Just Got Easier

Suffern, New York – February 5, 2019 – Jessica Bristow has been hired as the first Public Relations writer for the Card Connect New York company. Card Connect New York is a merchant processing company where their goal is to save businesses money on credit card fees they pay to accept Visa, Mastercard Discover, and American Express.

Jessica Bristow is currently a junior at The University of Arizona studying e-Society Information and Sciences with a minor in Public Relations. Bristow has experience in writing, communication skills, and social media skills. She also has experience from her previous internship which focused on sales in the fashion industry.

Card Connect New York would be a perfect fit for Jessica because of the experience she has with communicating to others, selling products to customers and the classes she has taken as an undergraduate student. Mark Bristow, the President of Card Connect New York states “Jessica Bristow is very hardworking and responsible. She is a great addition to the company. A Public Relations writer would be incredibly beneficial to this company since we are constantly communicating with customers and building relationships. Trust is everything.”

Public Relations writer, Jessica Bristow, has set goals she is destined to accomplish for the Card Connect New York company. She is a very organized individual and enjoys working and connecting with other people. Jessica understands that the relationships this business has with customers is extremely important. Her goals include defining the target audience which could be any business, big or small. Bristow feels that planning ahead is beneficial to her and always likes to finish what she starts.

Jessica Bristow is confident that she has what it takes to be the best Public Relations writer for Card Connect New York. Bristow says, “I am looking forward to bringing my skills and ideas to the table. Building relationships with people in the business and, even with customers, is what this is all about.” Card Connect New York will only keep improving.

Card Connect New York provides solutions such as saving businesses money on their credit card fees that they pay. The business has been successful since 2006 and will continue to grow.
